

About the Department of Education

The Department of Education is dedicated to the academic study of education as a dynamic, multidisciplinary field that plays a crucial role in individual and social transformation. The department seeks to develop critical understanding, analytical ability, and professional competence among students, enabling them to engage meaningfully with educational theory, practice, and policy in a rapidly changing society.

The Department of Education was established in 2005, and the Honours programme was introduced in 2016. The department now has an intake capacity of 15 students, supported by one full-time faculty member and one State Aided Contractual Teacher (SACT).
